Accident Fatal To Third Lincolnite

... Miss Evelyn Schmidt Dies; Remained Unconscious

MISS SCHMIDT

Miss Evelyn Schmidt, 29, of 1309 Court, died Friday night in a local hospital of injuries received in a car-cattle truck collision which killed two other Lincoln women instantly.

Miss Schmidt never regained consciousness, after the tragedy last Sunday night which occurred west of Emerald on Highway 6. Her injuries included a fractured pelvis, fractured leg and internal injuries.

The other two victims were Shirley Kahler, 23, and Florence Ostermiller, 32. A coroner's jury opened an inquest last Monday into their deaths.

William Ellenburger of the 343rd Bomber Squadron at the Lincoln

Air Force Base was the driver of the car in which the three victims were riding. Ellenburger is in fair to good condition at St. Elizabeth's hospital.

The jury had postponed a verdict until Miss Schmidt and Ellenburger were released from the hospital.

Driver of the truck was Ross Moye, 28, of Holdrege, who excaped with a scratched arm.

Miss Schmidt was a buyer at Magee's, where she had been employed the past 12 years.

A Lincoln resident all her life, she was graduated from Lincoln High School and was a member of Salem Congregational Church. Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Schmidt; sisters, Mrs. Jacob Schafer and Barbara Schmidt; brothers, George E. and Milton L., and her grandmother, Mrs. Katherine Michel, all of Lincoln.

Miss Schmidt was the seventh 1955 Lancaster County traffic fatality, none of which have occurred in Lincoln.

Worst Over? City Record Almost Falls

SATURDAY FORECAST: 'NOT QUITE SO COLD'

Bitter cold, which made winds razor-sharp, drove Nebraska temperatures to within an icicle's breath of the all-time lows at a time when spring should be bursting out all-over.

The Friday night low temperature in Lincoln, seven degrees, missed by a single degree the March 24 record low of six set in 1894. By early Saturday morning it appeared that the worst had passed. The temperature climbed to 10 rather than dropping nearer zero.

Forecasters had said prospects were for temperatures reaching as low as 5 below in some parts of the state.

A terse "warmer Sunday" in the forecast held out hope that the mercury would revert to season. Even Saturday will be "not quite so cold" with highs bumping the 20 mark.

In case it doesn't seem enough like winter, snow flurries are promised Saturday for the northeast and east central portions.

Snow flurries struck portions of the state Friday, dropping visibility sharply for short periods of time. Areas which felt the brunt of the Thursday storm suffered "ground blizzards" from Friday's high winds.

State Maintenance Engineer John McMeekin said no highways were closed but there were plenty of dangerous slick spots left.

Roads Worst In East

The blowing snow was sitting down on the roads, he said, adding to the hazard. Blowing snow and spotted ice were reported around Culbertson. Spotted ice west of Lincoln to Seward and Friend was also reported.

Generally, it was the east end of the state that had the treacherous roads.

The Safety Patrol reported blizzard conditions at Omaha Friday afternoon. Omaha had the heaviest snowfall of Thursday's storm.

Colder, Yet

A 45 m.p.h. wind at Norfolk, accompanied by light snow, sharply cut visibility there. The northeastern Nebraska city now has five inches of snow on the ground.

Lincoln had the state high with a meager 15 degrees, which was short-lived as a snow flurry brought the temperature down rapidly in the early afternoon.

Scottsbluff and Chadron had twin lows Friday—4 below each.

The long-range forecast said temperatures would continue cold through the middle of next week, ranging from 10 to 15 degrees below seasonal normals. Moisture will follow its pattern of recent weeks, light in the west and a bit more moderate in the east.

In the Sidney area several rural schools were closed Friday following a snowfall of about 4 inches. Winds of 25 to 30 miles per hour whipped the snow Friday afternoon, cutting visibility.

Nebraska's cover of spring snow, like the blanket on a bed, probably has protected the state's winter wheat crop from damage from the bitter cold, government observers said.

Without the snow, the cold weather and strong winds would have dried out the plants rapidly, according to Ken Logan, crops statistician with the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

From the moisture standpoint, the trouble with the snow was that it favored eastern Nebraska, which didn't need it badly, and passed up the west and southwest, which have been hard up for precipitation.

Additionally, Logan said, the snow has been "pretty hard" on livestock. This is the calving season in the Sandhills and wet snow is hard on new-born calves.

"There may have been some losses," Logan said.

Cold Perils Livestock In 3 States

DENVER (AP) — Farmers and ranchers in Colorado, Wyoming and Montana moved to protect their livestock from sub-zero temperatures Friday night on the heels of a severe spring storm which had moved into the plains region from the Rocky Mountain area.

Montana—still digging out from up to eight inches of snow left by the worst spring blizzard in years—was bracing for a new storm predicted to dump more snow in the mountainous Continental Divide area and in the southwest portion of the state.

Calving, Lambing

Low temperatures of 5 to 10 degrees below zero were predicted for Friday night in much of the storm belt where the calving and lambing seasons were under way.

Lowest temperatures in the nation today was 34 below at Unionville, near Helena, Mont., which itself had 30 below—a new record for the month.

One traffic death in Colorado was blamed on heavy snow which measured 8 inches in Denver and a foot at Rabbit Ears Pass in the western part of the state.

Schools Close

Denver's snowfall was the heaviest since a blizzard last Feb. 18-19.

Loveland Pass, about 50 miles west of Denver, was blocked by snow slides.

Some schools were closed in Montana and Wyoming, but all except a few rural schools in Colorado were open.

Wyoming's snowfall ranged from one to four inches. A numbing cold wave sent temperatures nose-diving to -18 at Sheridan and -13 at Casper, lowest ever recorded for the two Wyoming cities this late in the year. The state's lowest reading was -30 at Cody.

Texas, Too

The front left up to seven inches of snow over most of Kansas and up to four inches in Missouri.

The snow-laden cold front threatened another freeze over the upper two-thirds of Texas, where the peach and early vegetable crops were destroyed in some places earlier this week. Snow fell from Amarillo to Dalhart and eastward across central and northern Oklahoma.

As temperatures skidded in Missouri and Kansas, new records were established for this late in the year. At St. Joseph, Mo., a morning low of 16 shattered a 45-year-old record for the date. Mid-Missouri, from Kansas City to St. Louis, apparently took the brunt of the storm with cross-state highways reported slick and treacherous.

Many peach orchards, just blooming, were hard hit.

In Kansas, the snow blanket was described as just the ticket for the wheat, supplying both future moisture and protection from the cold.

The Weather

NEBRASKA: Partly cloudy Saturday with snow flurries northeast and east central becoming mostly clear Saturday night and Sunday; not quite so cold Saturday; warmer Sunday; high Saturday near 20.

KANSAS: Partly cloudy Saturday becoming mostly clear Saturday night and Sunday; not quite so cold Saturday; warmer Sunday; high Saturday near 20.

Turnpike Repealer Okayed

By ARCH DONOVAN

Star Staff Writer

The Public Works Committee Friday sent to the floor of the Legislature, LB 271, introduced by Sen. William Metzger. It would abolish the Turnpike Authority established at the last session.

The vote to advance was 6 to 3 after a motion to kill it had obtained only two votes.

Metzger argued at the public hearing that the present law grants too sweeping authority to Turnpike members and that its actions are not subject to review by the courts or Legislature once they start work on any project.

Earlier this week, Gov. Anderson said broad powers are necessary if the state is to have a toll road.

The committee also acted favorably on LB 413, which would make the state engineer, consulting Capitol engineer.

It is freely admitted as a method by which the state engineer, L. N. Ress, could be given additional compensation and get around the constitutional limitation of salary changes once every eight years.

The current pay of Ress is now frozen at his present $8,500 a year, but it has been reported that he has agreed to stay and Gov. Anderson has said if the bill passes, Ress will be given $12,000. Ress is reported to have received an offer of $14,000 to move to Chicago.

Another measure that would facilitate a salary increase for the engineer, LB 181, has been pending on the calendar of the Legislature. It would divide the department into three separate bureaus.

It has met some opposition from those who would limit the split to two bureaus—highway and irrigation.

Also sent to the floor was LB 519, setting a flat fee of $8 on all weights of passenger automobiles. Lighter cars now pay $6.

The bill introduced by Sen. Monroe Bixler also provides that fluorescent enamel be used on the license plates for night visibility. The cost is estimated at 15 cents a pair but the new fee is expected to more than pay this cost.

By 5 to 3 vote the committee indefinitely postponed a bill that would have permitted 14-year-olds to drive motor scooters.

LB 273, providing for an interstate compact apportioning the waters of the Niobrara River and its tributaries was sent to general file. Also reported out was LB 308, prescribing the experience and financial resources required to bid on state highway projects.

MARCH DUST STORMS TAKE HEAVY TOLL—

2 Million Acres Of Land In Great Plains Damaged

Other Big Areas Lack Protective Covering

WASHINGTON (INS) —

The Agriculture Department said Friday that nearly two million acres of land in the Great Plains were damaged in a severe two-day wind storm earlier this month.

In a report on potential dust bowl conditions, the department estimated that a total of seven million acres has been damaged by high winds since last November.

The states hardest hit by the storms are Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, Nebraska and Wyoming.

(Southwestern and Panhandle areas of Nebraska have suffered some wind damage. A. E. Anderson, state-federal crop statistician, pointed out. However, he emphasized there has been no alarming damage in Nebraska to date. Parts of Dundy, Kimball, Hitchcock, Chase, Perkins, Cheyenne and Box Butte Counties have been affected.)

Officials said that another 10 million acres of land has insufficient stubble, grass or other cover for protection against blowing, if severe windstorms like that of March 10-11 recur.

They added that three-fourths of all the land "in condition to blow" is cropland, and half of that is in wheat which has not progressed sufficiently to provide ground cover.

The soil conservation service reported that farmers in the affected states have listed or chiseled more than a million acres of land to check blowing. It was explained, however, that such emergency measures are only temporary although they give some protection.

EZRA T. BENSON ... denies foot-dragging in getting rid of surpluses

Solon Critics And Benson Have Slugfest

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Secretary of Agriculture Benson and the House Appropriations Committee belabored each other with verbal hoe handles Friday.

The committee, in passing on Benson's budget requests, said some of his policies were negligent, irresponsible and political. It accused him of foot-dragging in offering surplus stocks to foreign buyers and said administration production control programs were forcing farmers off the land.

In reply, Benson said it is time to "stop manipulating the farm program to promote partisan political purposes." He called the committee's report "political propaganda."

The report, recommending $878,625,391 in cash and 338 million dollars in lending authority for the Agriculture Department's fiscal year starting July 1, was drafted by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Whitten (D-Miss) and composed of four Democrats and three Republicans. The full committee is composed of 50 members—30 Democrats and 20 Republicans.

No Record Vote

There was no record vote to indicate how many of the committee agreed with the blast against Benson. The procedure is for a subcommittee to submit a report to the full committee, which tacitly approves the report when it okays the funds recommended by the subcommittee.

In overhauling Benson's budget requests, the subcommittee restored some items which he had eliminated, added to others, and cut some. It wound up with a net reduction of $6,424,524.

The committee's report said: "Evidently, with the Department of Agriculture, a branch of the executive department, political and other considerations predominate to the point of preventing action."

This referred specifically to operations of the Commodity Credit Corporation which handles the government's farm price support program and which drew much of the committee's criticism. Benson is chairman of CCC's board of directors.

The committee said its investigators found "numerous examples of administrative deficiencies, excessive operating costs, lack of personnel training and supervision, and inadequate sales policies," as well as "questionable practices" in the Commodity Stabilization Service, which is the CCC's parent organization.

Asserting the CCC has no sales policy or program "worthy of the name," the committee directed the agency to get a sales manager at once and start selling surplus commodities at the best price other countries will pay.

It suggested that CCC be made an independent agency if necessary.

Benson's statement said his department has a "massive export program."

"But it is impossible for an export program to move in a short time the prodigious stocks piled up by our past unsound farm program," he said.

The secretary said his department was "pushing to the limit" the expansion of both domestic and foreign markets. But he said the administration does not propose to "dump surpluses in a manner that will break the markets."

Late Rush Brings Council List To 13

A last minute rush of filings has boosted the list of candidates for election to the City Council to 13.

Saturday is the last day for filing but no additions to the list are expected. Mayor Clark Jeary is also the only candidate for mayor and no opposition is expected.

On the race for Board of Education, there are three candidates for the two six-year terms open and one candidate for the four-year short term. It is reported that there may yet be several filings for these offices.

Background and pictures of new candidates on Page 3.

Filings to date for the Board of Education would not even fill the nominations list for the general election May 3. There are two persons to be nominated for each of the long terms and the short term on the Board, a total of six nominations open with only four candidates.

Seven of the 13 Council candidates will be pushed off the May ballot as only six of the hopefuls will be nominated in April to make the general election run. Three are to be elected to the Council in May.

Registration for the primary closed Friday with a total number of 52,788 persons registered. The list of candidates as the various races now shape up are:

City Council
Bennett (Abe) Martin
Leo Bartunek
Res Wilkinson
Pat Ash
Edwin F. Dose
William R. Pawley
L. E. Chadderton
William Denekne
Jacob Amen
Marion Jensen
William H. Davidson
John Hobbs
Chris W. Platz
Board of Education, Long Term
Warren H. Parker
Richard A. Jay
Col. Harry Cunningham
Glenn Yaussi is a short term Board of Education candidate.

Also on the April ballot will be two separate propositions—one moving the filing deadline up to 20 days before elections and one establishing a new system of financing special improvement districts for the city.

Federal Pay Hike Faces A Veto

Senate Votes 10% Increase

House Must Act On Boost For 1,500,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate overrode President Eisenhower's wishes Friday and voted to give 1,500,000 government workers a 10 per cent raise in pay.

It thereby risked a veto; the President has said he would veto a raise of such a size with great concern.

A rollcall vote of 72-21 approved the increase for 500,000 postal workers.

Then the Senate rushed through a similar raise for about 1,000,000 federal employees in the ranks of the classified Civil Service. Passage was on a voice vote.

The legislation now goes to the House, where administration leaders will reform their ranks to give it possibly tougher opposition.

"Empty Gesture"

Opponents of the 10 per cent boost called it impractical—"an empty gesture."

They said the President never would sign bills raising public pay that much when the budget was still unbalanced.

It is estimated the raise for postal workers would cost 220 million dollars annually and that for the classified employees about 500 million, a total of 720 million dollars.

Eisenhower has sought to hold the raise down to about 6 per cent for the Civil Service and 7.6 per cent for the Post Office Department.

But Democrats declared they were "tired" of attempted dictation from the executive branch. They asserted the Senate should do what it believed to be right.

Congress voted itself a 50 per cent raise recently, and members are now drawing $22,500 a year.

No Rubber Stamp

"We do not have to be intimidated or dictated to by the executive branch," Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) said in winding up the brief debate.

"I'm getting tired of being asked to rubber stamp whatever the Post Office Department sends up here."

The Senate set its course on the pay bills by first rejecting a 7.6 per cent raise for postal workers, offered by administration leaders.

The rollcall vote was 52-41.

Forty-three Democrats voted against it, as well as nine Republicans—Sens. Beall (Md.), Butler (Md.), Duff (Pa.), Ives (N.Y.), Kuchel (Calif.), Langer (N.D.), Malone (Nev.), McCarthy (Wis.) and Young (N.D.).

Thirty-eight Republicans and three Democrats supported the administration figure. The Democrats were Sens. Byrd (Va.), Eastland (Miss.) and Robertson (Va.).

44 Demos Vote Yes

On final passage of the postal bill, the party lineup was 44 Democrats and 28 Republicans for the 10 per cent increase and 19 Republicans and 2 Democrats against.

Byrd and Robertson stayed with the opposition.

A two-thirds vote of those present and voting in both houses is required to override a presidential veto.

While the 72-21 Senate vote gave the bill more than a two-thirds margin, many Republicans voted for it reluctantly and some would probably switch sides on a veto test.

Sen. Barrett (R-Wyo.), for one, said that although he voted for the bill he would not vote to override a veto.

The bill would give each postal worker at least a 10 per cent raise but would mean more for those receiving less than $4,000 a year, since it has a $400 floor. The Senate had voted earlier to make the increase effective when the Senate president signs the bill. The original plan was to make it retroactive to Jan. 1.

Biggest City In World Faces Weekend Crisis

By EDDIE GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Britain's big daily newspapers closed down Friday night because electricians and maintenance men walked out in support of wage demands.

The world's biggest city, deprived of its three mass circulation evening papers Friday, thus faced a bleak weekend of no newspapers for two of the nation's biggest sporting events—the Grand National Steeplechase and the Oxford-Cambridge boat race.

Representatives of labor and management hit a deadlock in talks with government conciliation officials. Then a mass meeting of the 700 strikers voted unanimously to stay out.

"This means the strike goes on over the weekend," one union chief declared. He said it looked like no papers till Tuesday at the earliest.

'Ghost' Edition

But newsmen and printers carried on preparing "ghost" editions in case the strike broke.

The striking unions have not detailed their demands, but one official said: "We are asking for another 58 shillings and sixpence ($8.22) a week, which will make us 125 per cent above the prewar rate."

The prospects of a weekend without newspapers created a crisis of varying degrees in the lives of millions of Britons whose papers are as indispensable as tea.

Saturday sees the running of the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree and the Oxford-Cambridge boat race on the Thames.

Approximately 140,000 persons are to watch four teams battle for the honor of playing in the cup final at Wembley.

The unions want new pay rates to meet the increased cost of living. They have not revealed publicly what they are asking.

A management representative said, however:

Also Refused

"A wage increase offer identical to that made to all other unions in the London newspaper printing industry—and accepted by a majority of them—has been refused by the Amalgamated Engineering Union and the Electrical Trades Union.

"The employers offered to submit the case to arbitration, but this was also refused."

The two unions are not affiliated with the Printing and Kindred Trades Federation, but their members have usually received increases similar to those obtained by the printers.

The new proposals would give skilled members of the two unions in London weekly rates equivalent to $36.33 for night work

1,600-Year-Old Bible Placed In Capital Library

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Yonan Codex, oldest known New Testament in the language spoken by Christ and his disciples, was transferred from a Washington bank vault to the Library of Congress Friday. It will go on public display April 5.

On the way to the library, the ancient manuscript was taken to the White House for a brief showing to President Eisenhower. It was accompanied by a heavy police guard and traveled under a 1½ million-dollar insurance policy.

The manuscript, believed to be more than 1,600 years old, has been kept for centuries by the Malek Yonan family, which came from Assyria after World War I.

It has been acquired, for an unspecified price, by the Aramaic Bible Foundation, formed especially for the purpose.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty declined Friday night to comment on reports that the President will warn the legislators of the situation at next week's briefings.

Hagerty noted that the luncheons had been scheduled for some time and that any discussion of foreign affairs at that time undoubtedly will touch upon Formosa.

The United States is committed to defend Chiang Kai-shek's bastion of Formosa but has indicated that whether it will defend the Quemoy-Matsu outposts depends on whether an assault on them is aimed at conquering Formosa.

The exact timing of any Red Communist move, if it is made, is uncertain. There has been some speculation that the Reds would want to hold it off until after the Afro-Asian conference at Bandung, Indonesia, starting April 24. Communist nations are among those to be represented at the conference, and are expected to make the most of the propaganda opportunity.

ARGUE OVER GUN—

Fatal Shooting At Macy 'Justifiable Homicide'

MACY, Neb. (AP) — A coroner's jury after 55 minutes of deliberation, Friday afternoon returned a verdict of "justifiable homicide" in the fatal shooting Wednesday night of John Walker, 40, of Macy.

Matthew Stabler, 26, Walker's brother-in-law, who had been held in jail pending the outcome of the inquest, was released from custody.

Stabler had said the shooting came after the two had argued over Walker's request for the loan of a .22 rifle. Stabler said he refused the request because Walker had been drinking, the two scuffled and Walker was shot.

Among those testifying at the inquest were Mrs. Florence Stabler, wife of Matthew, who was at home when the shooting occurred; Gordon Gunderson, Stabler's employer; Dr. H. G. Barber, who examined the body; Dave Chase, a neighbor; and Mrs. Glen Hinkle and her son, Franklin, first to reach the scene after the shooting.

Others on the stand were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walker, parents of John Walker; and Francis and Ansley Walker, his brothers.

New County Trailer Court Rules Ready In 3 Weeks

Revised trailer court regulations for Lancaster County probably will be ready for public hearing in two or three weeks.

Commissioner Del Lienemann, county zoning board chairman, said the committee which has been studying the revisions will meet next Thursday evening for a final review of the proposed regulations.

The regulations, with some suggested minor changes received last Thursday the approval of Dr. James Gorge and Les Sanger of the city-county health department; City Building Inspector Ed Vorhees, and Planning Engineer Douglas Brodgen.

Committee members on revision are Donald Hipple, president of the Lancaster County Mobile Home Association; Mrs. H. W. Gartner, trailer court operator; R. H. Scheidt and William Folmer both of West Lincoln.

Both Sides

Lienemann said the committee represents both trailer court owners and county residents who are interested in trailer courts because of their effect on communities and school districts.

The trailer court — covering health, sanitation, spacing and other requirements — now on the county's books was adopted in 1943.

The new code is based on rules recommended by the U. S. Department of Health and other interested organizations, but includes some provisions of the old code.

Objective

The ultimate objective of the revision, according to Lienemann, is the adoption of identical trailer court regulations by the city and county.

The city and county have already agreed upon a joint zoning procedure covering trailer courts. Discussion of the general problems began when school districts near the Lincoln Air Force Base complained of the extra pupil load caused by the trailer courts.

The zoning phase of the trailer court problem is being worked on. Lienemann estimated enforcement of the new code, if adopted, would not be made effective for several months. Target date for the code is the new fiscal year, July 1, he said.

Reds Near Position To Attack

... At Matsu Isle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Chinese Communists will be in a position to launch a big assault on Matsu within a few weeks, according to a high-level evaluation of intelligence reports from the Far East.

Whether they actually will try the venture only the future can determine, although a number of American military men say they give every evidence of intending to do so.

The Intelligence study, which has been passed to the top authorities in Washington, shows also that unless the Reds are given a very rough time in any assault on Matsu, they could be ready to strike a much heavier blow against Quemoy by May.

The threats confronting these Nationalist-held islands hugging the China coast are likely to be in the forefront of discussion when President Eisenhower holds his foreign policy briefing luncheons for Senate and House leaders next Wednesday and Thursday.

U.S. Committed

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty declined Friday night to comment on reports that the President will warn the legislators of the situation at next week's briefings.

Hagerty noted that the luncheons had been scheduled for some time and that any discussion of foreign affairs at that time undoubtedly will touch upon Formosa.

The United States is committed to defend Chiang Kai-shek's bastion of Formosa but has indicated that whether it will defend the Quemoy-Matsu outposts depends on whether an assault on them is aimed at conquering Formosa.

The exact timing of any Red Communist move, if it is made, is uncertain. There has been some speculation that the Reds would want to hold it off until after the Afro-Asian conference at Bandung, Indonesia, starting April 24. Communist nations are among those to be represented at the conference, and are expected to make the most of the propaganda opportunity.

Washington (INS) — Sen. Alben W. Barkley (D-Ky.), applauded President Eisenhower for moving to restore bipartisan harmony in the wake of the Yalta controversy, but there were new GOP rumbles on the foreign policy front.

The former vice-president and one-time majority leader said the Yalta Episode "emphasizes the fact that on vital matters involving the peace of the world stupid trivialities should not be allowed to cloud the atmosphere."

2 Million Netted

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate investigators were told that a Newark, N. J., insurance broker netted early two million dollars on a laundry union's welfare fund, but a mystery developed over what happened to $900,000 of the money.

Francis X. Plant, a Senate Labor Subcommittee investigator, testified that the broker, Louis B. Saperstein, received the money over a five-year period through fat commissions and fancy book-work on the 11 million dollar fund.

Asylum Eved

WASHINGTON (INS) — Under secretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr., told Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zaroubin that the U. S. will consider "any proper request" made by 21 Russian seamen on the Far East for political asylum. A State Department spokesman said Hoover informed the Soviet envoy during a half-hour conference that as far as he knows no decision has been reached.

LAW CLOSES BELL HOTEL IN OMAHA

OMAHA (AP) — Douglas County Attorney Eugene Fitzgerald, who last week called upon police to do away with gambling and prostitution in Omaha, Friday obtained a court order closing the Bell Hotel.

Fitzgerald called it "an important step toward curtailing any possible future attempts to organize gambling and prostitution."

The order signed by District Judge Patrick Lynch described the property in downtown Omaha as a nuisance, being used "for purposes of lewdness, assignation and prostitution."

This, Fitzgerald told the court, has been going on for at least five years.

Judge Lynch's order gave the county attorney power to close the property "until further order of the court."

The order covers not only the hotel, but a first floor room where gamblers once gathered, and a card room to the rear of Bell Cigar store.

Sets Hearing Date

The judge set April 4 as the date for a hearing to decide whether the temporary injunction shall be continued. If this ruling is favorable, Fitzgerald can then move for a permanent injunction.

Named as defendants were Etta R. MacDonald, listed in courthouse records as owner of the property; Lou Anna Brownlee, alias Chloe Brownlee, and Fred S. Snorts Weyerman. Mrs. Brownlee and Weyerman lease the property, Fitzgerald said.

Fitzgerald said the padlock action, which was carried out immediately by sheriff's deputies, shows his office "means business" in getting organized vice out. Hinting further action, he said "we intend to pursue this course."

Deputy Sheriff Joe Marino said he got an unwelcome reception when serving the papers on Mrs. MacDonald. "She slammed the door on my fingers," he said.

Sheriff's deputies said they found an intricate telephone system in the basement, some of it "obviously for wire tapping."

Fitzgerald said he had discussed the action with the sheriff's office and police department and got their assurance of "fullest cooperation."

Reds Get Fuel

TAIPEI (Saturday) (INS) — Nationalist intelligence authorities reported that a Polish tanker slipped into Red China's Whampoa Harbor with 8,000 tons of jet fuel from Romania. Formosa officials said the tanker managed to enter the mainland harbor near Canton while the eyes of the free world were focussed on the Polish tanker Aruba, also en route to Red China with Romanian jet fuel.

Newspapers Moving Ahead — Publisher

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Newspapers "are moving ahead with great confidence," and circulation and reader-interest are at an all-time high, the president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association said Friday.

Moreover, Richard W. Slocum told the national convention of the Newspaper Personnel Relations Association, newspaper reader-interest has gone up despite competition from television while magazine reader-interest has declined.

Slocum, general manager of the Philadelphia Bulletin, said, "our product, which is news, is what the people want, and newspapers have demonstrated their ability to supply that product."

Slocum substituted at the convention for Cranston Williams, general manager of the ANPA, who was unable to attend because of his wife's illness. He read part of Williams' speech which declared:

"I believe the written word will continue to be man's chief means of communication and I believe the daily newspaper is here to stay, and you employees will continue to earn wage-wise in ratio to what they can do — and above all what they are willing to do."

3 Die In El Paso Air Crash

B47 Plows Into Residential Area

EL PASO (AP) — A B47 medium jet bomber crashed into a residential area on the outskirts of El Paso Friday night killing three crew members in flaming wreckage.

The plane struck a freshly-laid foundation of a house in a new addition near El Paso International Airport as it was attempting to land at the airport during a sand storm. Visibility was one-half mile at the time.

An unoccupied house next door was ignited by the flaming wreckage but there were no civilian casualties. Flames were quickly extinguished.

Biggs Air Force Base information officers identified the dead as Maj. J. M. Fantell, 1st Lt. J. R. Wilson and Capt. J. R. Kingstow. Hometowns were not immediately available but the trio was believed to be attached to the 90th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing at Forbes Air Force Base, Topeka, Kan.

Biggs Air Force Base officials estimated damage to civilian property in the new addition at $50,000.

The bodies of the three airmen were dragged from the plane by asbestos-clad Biggs emergency crewmen.

Trainer Crashes

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A T33 jet trainer was reported to have crashed Friday night 17 miles east of El Paso, shortly after three men lost their lives in an earlier crash of a B47 jet bomber on the outskirts of El Paso.

It was not known how many men were aboard the trainer. The plane can carry two men.

First reports said the plane crashed on a farm highway.

SIX ENTER ELECTION RACE FOR LINCOLN CITY COUNCIL

Jensen, 63, Engineer

Marian A. Jensen, 63, a professional engineer, will file Saturday as a candidate for the City Council.

Jensen has paid his filing fee and said he would have his petition signed up Saturday. A drive by friends to place his name on the ballot was just started, he said.

Jensen

"I feel that the power plant could become a very good source of revenue."

Take Over Buses

"I am also strong for very serious consideration of taking over the bus transportation system. I believe it can be modernized to provide better service to the public and be made to produce a profit for the city."

"I am in favor of tackling the parking problem and am 100 per cent with Councilman Rees Wilkinson in the opening of P Street over the Rock Island tracks to the east. If necessary, O Street should also be widened to provide an adequate eastern traffic route."

Currently, the city purchases a little more than half of its power supply from the Nebraska Public Power System and generates the remainder itself. For the six months ended Feb. 1, 1955, the city's power operation made a net profit of $44,650.56 as compared with $24,802.92 for the same six months the preceding year.

10 Years Here

Jensen has lived in Lincoln for the past 10 years. He is not a registered engineer in Nebraska, he said, as his work up to now has been as a consultant on jobs outside of this state.

He is a registered engineer in Ohio where he practiced for 23 years. Much of his work now is writing for engineering trade journals.

He was director of engineering for Crowl-Collier Publishing Co. for 11 years and spent a number of years in the planning of construction and operation of portland cement plants.

These plants, the largest producing some 6,000 barrels or several trainloads of cement a day, involve the construction of complete communities, he said. Generally built in a wilderness, he said, the plants require construction of all community facilities such as water, sewers, streets, lighting, transportation and housing.

Jensen has served for six years as superintendent of utilities at Nebraska City and for two years as consulting engineer there in rebuilding that community's power plant. He has also served in various engineering capacities for large corporations and the government.

Selleck On Commission

John K. Selleck has been elected vice chairman of the City Planning Commission, succeeding the late Cecil C. Douney.

Chadderdon Has Store

L. E. Chadderdon, 63, dairy store operator, has filed as a candidate for election to the City Council.

Chadderdon

Chadderdon stated he hoped to be able to apply a lifetime background of business experience to city affairs. He said he was particularly interested in the number of cars in Lincoln with license plates from other than Lancaster County.

There seem to be a great many such license plates on the streets, he said, and this could be costing thousands of dollars every year in licensing fees and auto taxes.

He also advocated more study of the parking problem with more use of angle parking in place of parallel parking to add more spaces.

Chadderdon has lived in Lincoln the past 13 years. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and was the Ford dealer in Holdrege, Neb., for many years.

For three years, he was personnel manager at Cushman Motor Works in Lincoln. Chadderdon is married and has four children. He lives at 2901 Randolph.

He served for 15 years on the State Aid Fund committee.

Hobbs, 43, Owns Cafe

John Hobbs, 43, owner and operator of a Havelock restaurant, has filed as a candidate for election to the City Council.

Hobbs

A Lincoln resident for the past five years, Hobbs stated that he would not advocate a program until he has had an opportunity to study the issues at hand.

In filing, Hobbs also stated, "the suburbs are interested in representation on the Council but while I feel qualified to handle any suburban problem, I surely would not be so partial as to sacrifice the best interest of the city as a whole to any small minority group."

"I would also consider it an honor to serve on the Council and work with Mayor Clark Jeary."

Hobbs has been in the restaurant business all of his life. Married and the father of four children, he lives at 4326 Starr.

Hobbs is a member of the city's Zoning Board of Adjustments and is president of the Havelock Businessmen's Club. He is first vice president of the Havelock Lions Club and second vice president of the Lincoln Restaurant Association.

He is a member of the Havelock Community Chorus, Masonic Lodge, Eastern Star and attends the Warren Methodist Church.

Pawley, 59, Eyes Traffic

William R. Pawley, 59, owner and operator of Pawley Refrigeration Service, has filed as a candidate for election to the City Council.

Pawley

A Lincoln resident for the past 45 years, Pawley expressed a special interest in traffic and parking problems. He advocated that bus stops be cut down, in some cases with a stop every other block, to increase parking spaces.

He said he also favored more off-street parking close-in to the business district.

A more lenient application of the zoning law is also urged by Pawley. He added that there should be more business opportunities farther out, away from the downtown area.

Pawley is married and lives at 1945 K. He is a veteran of World War I.

Smith asks a $10,000 judgment for alleged damages.

Quick On The Trigger

We think Gov. Vic Anderson was a bit quick on the trigger in telling newsmen earlier in the week that the Eisenhower administration's highway program (the plan to spend $100 billion on roads over a 10-year period) was better adapted to Nebraska's needs than the version drawn by Sen. Gore.

Obviously the governor could not have read the criticism of the administration's program by Sen. Harry Byrd, who called it "unwise and unsound" and then proceeded to prove why he thought so.

Sen. Byrd sent out copies of his views to all the newspapers. His argument against the plan (the administration's program) makes mighty interesting reading, persuasive and convincing.

Public Power Confers

More than 1,500 invitations have gone out to representatives of REA's, municipalities and other public power agencies in this five state area for a two-day conference at Huron, South Dakota Monday and Tuesday.

Both the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska will send public power men to the conference the aim of which is three-fold. It has been described by the East River Power Cooperative of Madison, S. D., sponsor of the conference, as seeking a complete understanding among preference customers in the 5-state area, outlining a plan of action aimed at an

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

There are bigger fish to fry than meet the eye in the storm which gathered over the Potomac Friday. By a lopsided vote, the Senate approved a 10 per cent pay increase for postal workers notwithstanding warnings reputed to be flying over the White House at the lower end of Pennsylvania Avenue. Those warnings hinted at a presidential veto, but were unheeded.

Congress was "histed" on its own petard. There was nothing compelling it to treat others as it had treated itself. But the small voice of conscience, ticking silently, may have been more eloquent than all the words tossed around in debate. Apparently Congress was impressed with the argument that it could not limit postal workers to a 7 1/2 per cent increase in pay after voting itself a lush, juicy 50 per cent pay increase a short time ago. Angry South Carolina's Johnston put that into words during the course of debate so that when the roll call came, there was no question as to the outcome. Now the issue goes to the White House, which would have preferred infinitely that it be settled on the floor of Congress, and settled the way Ike wanted it—namely, that the postal pay hike be held rigidly to the proposed 7 1/2 per cent. Before this session is concluded, the administration—which went out on a limb to praise Congress enthusiastically for its action in increasing the salaries of its own members from $15,000 to $22,500 annually, plus useful gadgets in the form of travel allowance and other prerogatives—may find the congressional pay boost one of the costliest with which Uncle Sam has been confronted. It sets a pattern for bigger, better things.

Simple Matter Of Justice

There was some justice in the claim of postal workers. Since the start of the Eisenhower administration, they had been out in the cold on pay increases while other government workers got them. Beyond those questions of the equities or inequities of pay adjustments now taking place in Washington, there has been one development of great concern to the American people. When this session ends, we may find that the authorized increases in pay for those in the military service and for hundreds of thousands of civilian workers actually more than offset every economy which the Eisenhower administration occasionally proudly proclaims it has put into effect. The additional burdens of a round-robin of pay increases very easily could leave us deeper in the red than such savings as have been made provide the hope of a balanced budget.

The time has come, it seems to us, when a start should be made toward taking a count of noses. The military pay increase bill has already been accepted as a foregone conclusion. It will add $740 million annually to the cost of government. The congressional pay hike bill already has passed Congress and has been signed by the President. Its added burdens never have been set forth in any news dispatch of an authoritative character. Travel allowance was upped from one trip back and forth a year to five. It is our understanding that the salary increase not only covered the individual members of Congress but in the happy atmosphere of the hour it necessarily had to make provision for congressional staffs. There are more than a million civilian workers yet to come and yet to receive pay adjustments which, if recognition is given to the equities of the matter, will provide for a minimum 10 per cent. It may be too early to compute the aggregate increase in government costs that has taken place in the matter of salary adjustments but for some reason the wire associations and the huge metropolitan papers maintaining staffs in the national capital have not as yet shown any inclination to do so.

The public is entitled to that information. It has a right to know. In short, how much has been added to the burden of government costs since the first of January?

Cooling Off Period?

Nebraska has plenty of company in getting fouled up in 1955's false spring. The weather map shows that most of the country is warming up the water pipes instead of warming up for a round of golf. Surprising some have not blamed the nuclear scientists who have been firing off H bombs. Perhaps Mother Nature is taking a hand in things, cooling off a lot of hot bloods who are toying with the idea of leveling off the mountains and a few nations, too, while they are at it. If that's the case, we're for it.

Actually, however, the administration's long-range highway program remains in too nebulous form to lend itself to discussion. The "gimmick" which aroused Sen. Byrd's opposition most was the proposed financing. The idea has been to set up a federal agency empowered to issue bonds up to required amounts, but to place its operations outside the limitations of the federal debt ceiling. Sen. Byrd pointed out that Uncle Sam would be called upon to pay $11.5 billion in interest charges for the money which he would contribute to the program. The greater share, of course, would be raised by the states and the local communities.

Until the full facts are available, the course of wisdom for Nebraskans, it would seem, is to maintain an open mind.

adequate supply of electricity at the lowest possible cost, and defining the common problems of public power.

This is a formal way of saying that the activation of the Upper Missouri Basin power, flood control and reclamation project is putting the five-state area on the threshold of a new and bigger adventure in the development of electric power. It is also a way of saying that it is time for public power agencies to close ranks and look to a safe future—a future made speculative by a national administration that is not becoming distinguished by its friendship for public power.

The conference in itself can produce little in the way of authority and even agreements that may be developed there can have no real binding effect. Nevertheless, it is a significant event. In it will be detected the forces that are at work both for and against public power. It will contain the promise of united action in the days to come. It contains the assurance that the agencies upon whom this region perforce depends for its electric service and development are sensitive to the welfare of their institutions and are prepared to give them the bigger look—all of which is to the good.

Happy Birthday

An eightieth birthday arrived Saturday for Dr. Syngman Rhee, president of the Republic of Korea, Christian gentleman, defender of democracy, foe of Communism and friend of the United States.

We send him greetings and our hopes for a bright and satisfying future. He has fought longer and harder and at greater personal peril than any of us. Haters of people have jailed him, beaten him, and sought his life, yet he has managed to reach the age of 80 and by his complete courage and dedication he has been able to gain and hold his little part of the world in the image of his ideals against all comers. We hope that when his mission is finally completed there will be successors or friendly nations around who are strong enough and understanding enough to hold together what he has made and possibly make it more perfect and secure.

Mr. Rhee happens to be a foreigner, an oriental, a man of color, a keeper of a small and strange country without wealth or tools, a man of hardship, a worker on the fringe as far as the great powers are concerned. He is not always an agreeable man nor even polite, and sometimes he annoys the United States. But he is one of the great men of modern times—one of the truly great.

Tough Minds

(From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

"Tough minds and tender hearts"—those college graduates should have, says Millicent C. McIntosh, president of Barnard. That's a fine phrase. Offhand, we can't recall its equal.

Mrs. McIntosh, however, seems to have a little trouble deciding just what makes a tough mind. She is distressed by those who, consumed by the fears of the times, become enemies of liberty and deliver their first attacks against liberty in the schools. Schools, she says, should ever be battlegrounds of ideas. But—she is worried too about teachers who are "confused" about academic freedom, who feel it allows them to present their own slant on things. But what other slant is a man to present?

Galileo could say: "Practically nobody believes that the earth revolves around the sun. The best authorities insist that sun and stars are moving adjuncts to our oh, so firmly anchored land." But, right or wrong, he would have to conclude: "But I do say that it is the earth that spins around the sun."

This is the tough mind. We know that through the ages it has been wrong frequently. What nonsense has been taught in the universities in the name of science and supposedly irrefutable mathematics! But being taught honestly—after examination and consideration—even error became a step toward truth.

We hold the proposition that tough mind clashing against tough mind will somehow strike the spark of truth. We know no better method.

Ike Crosses Fingers On Second Term Bid

WASHINGTON — The "original Eisenhower boosters" who announced after a recent White House luncheon that Ike would run in 1956 unless world conditions improved did not tell the whole story.

What they didn't tell was that the President hinted just as strongly that he would like to take a "vacation" from the White House if there was a positive advancement in world peace during his current administration. Here is an almost verbatim account of what was said at the luncheon:

Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts broke the ice by repeating the "request of those of us who were originally for you in 1952."

"We want you to be a candidate again in 1956," said Herter. "When that question comes up, I am usually tempted to slide under the table and avoid comment," confessed the President.

This prompted GOP Sen. Norris Cotton of New Hampshire, sitting next to Ike, to remark:

"Well, Mr. President, what you might do is give us the same reply that you sent in 1952. As you recall, you sent us a nice, two-page letter in which you didn't say no."

Eisenhower joined in the general laughter. Then he replied in serious vein:

"We'll just have to wait and see. Maybe we will make some real progress toward international peace in the next two years and conditions will be such that we can all take a vacation from worrying about world tensions."

Regardless of the wishful accounts that were leaked to the press, Ike's GOP guests felt that he would welcome an opportunity to retire to his Pennsylvania farm before the 1956 GOP national convention, but still has his fingers crossed.

IKE GETS GAS EDUCATION

President Eisenhower admitted that he got a lot of new facts on the natural gas industry when 15 public officials called at the White House to tell him the consumers' side of the natural gas regulation question.

The group was led by Wisconsin's Sen. Alexander Wiley and Gov. Walter Kohler, and included northern consumers of Southern Natural Gas. They found the President filled with arguments against government regulation, fed to him by Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks and Herbert Hoover, Jr., undersecretary of state and a former top executive of Union Oil which has a huge stake in voiding regulation of natural gas prices. "Why should this giant federal government reach down and regulate five or six thousand gas producers?" the President immediately asked his callers. "With that many companies, competition is bound to hold the price down."

"Mr. President, those figures give a false impression," replied Attorney General Vernon Thompson of Wisconsin. "Despite the thousands of producers, this is a monopoly industry because only one company sends gas through one pipeline to supply a particular area. There is absolutely no competition to restrain the price."

The President looked startled. He had never heard these facts before.

"In the case of Wisconsin," Thompson went on, "our supplier is the Phillips Petroleum Co. Before Phillips delivered even a single cubic foot of gas to us, it had increased the agreed price several times and there was nothing we could do about it."

Defense Mobilizer Arthur Flemming and Herbert Hoover, Jr., who sat flanking the President, nodded agreement.

HOOVER WAS WRONG

Ike was worried because a friend from Continental Oil had told him the industry would let gas dissolve in the air rather than submit to regulation.

"That's an idle threat, Mr. President," commented Charles Rhyne, head of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers. "There are billions of dollars of potential profits in natural gas and those oil fellows aren't going to give up that kind of money."

"Regulation wouldn't wipe out profits," Rhyne explained. "It would merely keep them at a fair level."

The most embarrassing incident of the hour-long meeting came when Herbert Hoover, Jr., who was one of the biggest contributors to the Nixon $18,000 fund and has long been a Union Oil executive, argued that the 27 1/2 per cent oil depletion tax deduction was figured in as part of the 6 per cent profit they take. Hoover was trying to show that the industry's profits weren't too high.

"That's not true," Hank O'Leary of the Wisconsin Public Service Commission shot back heatedly. "The 27 1/2 per cent comes off first and then the 6 per cent profit is figured on top of that."

Faced with this flat contradiction, Ike turned in desperation to Defense Mobilizer Flemming. Flemming was reluctant to make either Hoover or O'Leary look foolish and hesitated. But with the President looking fixedly at him, awaiting his answer, Flemming swallowed hard and replied:

"Mr. O'Leary is correct, Mr. President."

As the meeting broke up, the President's face wore a studied expression. At the last moment, he turned to Mayor Frank Zeidler of Milwaukee.

"You know," he confided, "I am about to become a natural gas consumer myself. They just laid pipes into my Gettysburg farm."

ARCH DONOVAN In Step With The Sower

One of the little birds that whisper into the ear of the Sower now and then, interesting observations he makes while flitting about the Capitol, tells us of a conversation overheard in the legislative parking lot.

One of the Sower's h e o v e r h e a r d t a l k i n g w a s a g r a n d f a t h e r. (He shall remain nameless because the other grandfathers in the U n i c a m e r a l Arch Donovan would try to outdo him in reporting clever sayings of their own grandchildren.)

Said the talking senator to the listening senator, who was a mere father and thus unqualified to speak, "My grandson got off a good one last Sunday. He was returning from Sunday School with a neighbor boy.

"The neighbor inquired, 'Is there really a devil?'"

"'Naw,' my grandson answered him. 'He's just like Santa Claus. He's our fathers.'"

It is possible the senator has a married daughter? Certainly it is not a son.

Serious-minded and hard-working freshman Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala spent many hours nursing one of his favorite bills through committee and guarding it from the barbs of critics. It provides that the slogan, "The Beef State," be placed on all motor vehicle licenses.

He was the shield that protected it from other slogans offered by other senators. When it reached general floor for consideration, the Ogallala senator who abhors waste of time was "fit to be tied" when his colleagues, some serious and some in jest, began "lowering the boom" on his bill.

Sen. Lester Anderson, Aurora, in response to letters from organizations interested in growing other meats, sought to amend it to read "The Meat State." McGinley stubbornly and seriously opposed such change. He is himself a cattleman and the bill was endorsed by the Beef Council.

Sen. Ernest Hubka, Beatrice, whose slogan, "The Homestead State," had been rejected, then attempted to limit use of the slogan to two years. This McGinley seriously opposed.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

O Jesus, Thou Art Standing

O Jesus, thou art standing
Outside the fast-closed door,
In lowly patience waiting
To pass the threshold o'er;
Shame on us, Christian brothers,
His name and sign we bear,
O shame, thrice shame on us
To keep him standing there.

O Jesus, thou art knocking:
And lo! that hand is scarred,
And thorns thy brow encircle,
And tears thy face have marred:
O love that passeth knowledge,
So patiently to wait;
O sin that hath no equal,
So fast to bar the gate.

O Jesus, thou art pleading
In accents meek and low—
"I died for you, my children,
And will ye treat me so?"
O Lord, with shame and sorrow
We open now the door;
Dear Savior, enter, enter,
And leave us nevermore.

By HORACE B. POWELL

"Behold, I stand at the door and knock: If any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." Every lover of the Bible has been thrilled by this impressive message of Jesus, found in the third chapter of the Book of Revelation.

It inspired Holman Hunt when he painted his celebrated canvas, "The Light Of The World." And Hunt's painting, in turn, suggested the imagery for Bishop William Walsham How's beautiful soul-winning hymn, reproduced above.

Holman Hunt used his brushes to tell the story of a patient Saviour, knocking and waiting before a fast-closed door. High weeds, tangled vines and unpicked fruit on the ground before the door give evidence that it has not been opened for a long time. Bishop How has told the same story in his hymn-poem, written in 1867.

"O Jesus, Thou Art Standing" is Bishop How's masterpiece, but he wrote many hymns. Among other favorites are his New Year hymn, "Jesus, Name of Wondrous Love," his All Saints' hymn, "For All The Saints Who From Their Labors Rest," and his "O Word of God Incarnate."

Sufficiency With Honor

Ainsworth, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: A belated but hearty "amen!" to Mr. George Marshall's letter relating to salaries and old-age relief.

I do not object to good salaries for office-holders. But when increases are given the comfortable and denied the desperately needy, it looks and smells bad.

Many a now-aged person has served well with small income and without opportunity to lay up a competency for the sunset years. These, our aged, should have a comfortable sufficiency with honor.

A similar injustice is threatened when those who are well-to-do seek to shift part of their taxes to the poor through a sales tax. I do not care what states have it—such a tax is both a nuisance and eminently unfair. All arguments for it are specious and leave me "cold" and disgusted. With taxes, as with contributions to the Lord, it isn't the amount that you pay but how much you have left that counts. Let the tax load be borne by those who have enough left to live on after taxes.

Balance Of Power

Hastings, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It might interest Hannah McNerney to know that this writer is quite familiar with Johnson County's past and present history, that that knowledge began long before she was born. I cast my first vote in 1891 at the Hazel Green schoolhouse out on Sleepy Lane, and in fact was born within a mile of where Johnson now stands.

Perhaps Hannah McNerney is identified with Johnson County welfare work. But it isn't of the county welfare division that either George Marshall or I are complaining. We are denouncing a state legislature that could vote the state's political wards startling salary increases but couldn't vote the old folks a $2 raise.

The old folks in Johnson County are the ones to give testimony. In the first place, the state manual provides the lowest possible subsistence for the old folks. The budgets are made by the Board of Control and while the budget could be liberalized, there is risk to be assumed in so doing.

For the relationship of public officials with the voters who put them in office, let us turn to the 16th verse of the 13th chapter of St. John:

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, the servant is not greater than his lord; neither is he that is sent greater than he that sent him."

The old folks thus armed and holding the balance of power in every senatorial district can, if organized, defeat their senatorial enemies.

Fun In Fishing

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There was a somewhat sour article in the Sunday paper of March 20 about Fremont trout fishing. My husband and Jack Davis, went to Fremont Saturday, too. They had the foresight to "gas up" the night before. They have been outdoors enough to recognize soft sand spots in the road, so they did not get themselves stuck. Claude stood in the cold water for an hour and a half without much luck, but he didn't complain and gripe. Later Lt. Davis hit on the right fly and had seven good-sized trout in 20 minutes. Claude and Carl caught some, too, until they lost the fly that had done the trick.

They came home cold, hungry and happy. Claude was ready to go Sunday. Anyone who fishes for sport knows fish are hard to please and unpredictable. There's the sport. People who want their limit in a few minutes on a warm sunny day can pay a dollar admission to a stocked pond some place where the fish are crowded and starved.

In my opinion, a good sport takes it in his stride if he doesn't catch a stringer full. Why not try fishing for sport, for the fun of being outdoors and trying?

Technical Sessions Mark Surface Water Conference

Republican, Loup Basins Discussed

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—The 12th annual Surface Water Conference attended by 55 employees of the U. S. Geological Survey, closed late Friday after two days of highly technical, specialized sessions.

Through lectures and films, the government workers learned the outcome of surveys and new methods of making surveys.

Subjects discussed Friday included water administration in the Loup River Basin, irrigation development and problems in the Republican River Basin, control and effect of stream flow, and developing rating curves for shipping channel streams.

Co-chairmen Friday were J. F. Mayne of Grand Island, a representative of the U. S. Geological Survey, and Dan S. Jones, Lincoln, of the State Bureau of Irrigation.

A. H. Williams of the Washington survey office outlined a nationwide review of the gaging station network that will study the need of any location changes of stream flow gaging points.

E. S. Kimmel of the Bureau of Irrigation at Bridgeport said the state irrigation department was principally concerned with the flow and administration of surface water. Other agencies, he explained, make a study of the flow of groundwater.

Home Ec Day Attracts Over 700 Despite State's Wintry Weather

In spite of Nebraska's uncooperative spring snows and blows, more than 700 women from all sections of the state were in attendance for the third annual Home Economics Day for Homemakers held on the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture campus, Friday.

Highlights of the days activities were two nationally known speakers, Dr. Jules LaBarthe from Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh, Pa., and Miss Iris Davenport, woman's editor of the Farm and Ranch magazine in Nashville, Tenn.

Miss Davenport had many suggestions for homemakers attending about "Achieving Distinction In Dress." "Any woman can be easy on the eye," she told the group, "if she studies the fashion modes, her own personality, and then adapting the modes rather than adopting them."

Dr. Jules LaBarthe of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, University of Pittsburgh, spoke to the homemakers on the new synthetic fibers together with individual advantages and disadvantages.

A panel discussion on "Home Economics Research Reaches Into Your Home" was moderated by Mrs. Clara Leopold, University Extension specialist on home management. Members of the panel were Dr. Helen Linkswiler, associate professor of home economics; Dr. Kenneth Cannon, associate professor of home economics; and Mrs. Virginia Trotter, assistant professor of home economics; Mrs. Arnold Baragar, associate professor of home economics.

Current College Students Face Big Responsibility Says Hardin

LINCOLN STAR SPECIAL
HASTINGS, Neb. — Students now in higher education are members of what will be the most sought-after college generation in history, Dr. Clifford M. Hardin, chancellor of the University of Nebraska, told a Hastings College convocation Friday.

Though business, industry, agriculture, and the professions will bid for their services, Chancellor Hardin warned the students that the increased popularity will be coupled with increased responsibility.

"By 1960," Chancellor Hardin told the students, "you will be in the age group 21 through 34. You will be in our first line of productive citizens. There will be 75 per cent more people over age 65 and 50 per cent more young people under 20 than there were in 1940. You will be called upon to support both of these age groups, yet your own ranks will be only 5 per cent greater than they were in 1940."

Among the many responsibilities the present college generation will face is that of providing more support of higher education, Dr. Hardin said.

"Bargain Rates"
"I hope there is no student here who is laboring under the mistaken notion that he or she is paying his own way, or that their parents are paying it at this college," he said.

They will sail for Belgium in September.

Decision On Highway 77 Is Awaited

Governor, Oakland Residents Confer

OAKLAND, Neb. (AP)—Gov. Victor Anderson said after a meeting Friday with Oakland residents he would make a decision Saturday on the question of Highway 77 construction work here.

The State Highway Department had proposed to repave about 1 1/2 miles of the highway through Oakland, but this was opposed by a group of townspeople.

A petition bearing 469 names, about one third of the population, was sent to Gov. Anderson asking that the highway be changed to bypass Oakland.

A group of Oakland citizens also met with Anderson in Lincoln in an effort to get the highway rerouted.

'Traffic Hazard'

During Friday's informal discussion, proponents of the bypass plan said Highway 77 going through the city was a traffic hazard, that it posed danger to school children, and that it had a depressing effect on real estate.

Anderson said he was in sympathy with the traffic problem, but the cost factor was so great it was hard for him to know what to do.

"I have to weigh the location of the highway against the cost of the bypass," he said. "People will insist on it."

The governor said $150,000 plus the cost of obtaining right-of-way for the bypass was far more than the present planned construction would cost.

It also was brought out an 11-island intersection outside of town would have to be torn up. It was built only a year ago. Anderson said, too, that the bypass would make the highway 3/4 mile longer.

Weather Ahead

Precipitation is expected to average about .10 of an inch in the west to about .25 in the east, occurring as scattered snows mostly Monday and Tuesday.

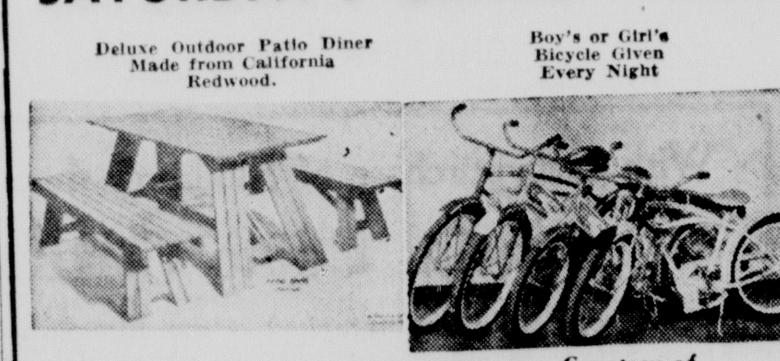

Winter Continues To Delay Her Exit

Rain is due along the middle Atlantic and southern New England coasts the south Atlantic and northwest Pacific coastal areas. Prof. Jindra's Violin Classes Popular

LINCOLN STAR SPECIAL
PERU, Neb. — This southeastern Nebraska town undoubtedly has more violins per capita than any other city in the United States. The reason: Victor H. Jindra, head of the division of fine arts at Peru State College.

Besides giving violin instruction to college students, Mr. Jindra spends a good deal of his time teaching violin to not only students at the T. J. Majors Campus School, but also pre-school children in Peru and neighboring towns.

24 'Small Violinists'

The kindly veteran musician of 32 years on the faculty at the Campus of a Thousand Oaks presently boasts a class of 24 violinists from grades two through four. The class, largest of that age group in his years at Peru, meets three times weekly during the noon hour, when other campus school students have a recreation period. The enthusiasm for instruction is so great among some of the youngsters that they come in during recess and after school. Six other violinists are pre-school or first graders.

The class is preparing for admission to the grade school orchestra in the Campus School. The beginners work together as a class, in duos, trios and quartets.

Playing a violin presents no strain for the little folks small arms since their instruments are of a size that they can handle.

"We fit them with an instrument, just like a suit of clothes," Mr. Jindra explained. Violins come in four sizes — one-quarter, one-half, three-quarters, and full-size.

Before and after practice sessions Mr. Jindra usually finds some of his proteges getting down a full-size violin from the shelves and trying it out. They seem to be in a hurry to grow so they can play a "man-sized" instrument, he said.

Start Them Young

Unlike some music educators who feel that a child should not start string instruction before they are in the fifth grade, Mr. Jindra says the secret of developing good violinists is to start them when they're young.

Recently Mr. Jindra was presented a life membership in the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers in appreciation of his work with young people.

With his busy schedule of college classes, his campus school group, and pre-school children, this season Mr. Jindra has managed to find time to play violin with the Omaha Symphony and viola with the Lincoln Symphony. He hasn't missed a practice or a concert at Omaha during the past two seasons, and this year — his first with the Lincoln group — he's been present for all concerts and practices of the capital city symphony.

A-Sub Trip Sparks Quiz

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (INS) — A Senate House Atomic Energy subcommittee plans to ask Air Force leaders why greater progress hasn't been made in developing atomic planes. The question will be posed to Secretary Talbot and top brass at a hearing next Wednesday.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), a subcommittee member, said Friday he feels part of the difficulty "may lie in the fact that the Air Force hasn't had any Admiral Rickover."

He credited Rear Adm. Hyman George Rickover, who supervised the building of the atomic submarine Nautilus, with pushing it to a successful conclusion much earlier than otherwise would have occurred. Gore said a trip made by committee members on the sub had sparked the inquiry into plane developments.

"Weight"

"As I understand it, the greatest single factor in the way of development of an atomic airplane is weight," Gore said. "Atomic power has been harnessed and there must be some way of adapting it to planes. We want to find out what's been done along that line."

The Tennessee senator said much weight is involved in shielding the atomic power plant, to prevent radiation injury.

If that problem can be licked, he said it might be possible to develop perfectly quiet planes with a source of power of "almost limitless duration." He added it was obvious that any such development would revolutionize military and civilian aviation.

"We are on the threshold of the atomic age and we certainly cannot permit ourselves to fall behind in any category of development, particularly in the air," he said.

Larger Planes

Sen. Pastore (D-RI), another subcommittee member, said he thinks the weight factor may prove difficult to lick, although he said he knew no reason why much larger planes than now are in use shouldn't be built.

"It's not going to be as easy as some people seem to think to get atomic airplanes in operation," he said.

Besides Talbot, the subcommittee has asked for testimony from Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chief of staff; Trevor Gardner, assistant secretary for research and development, and Gen. Donald Putt, deputy chief of staff for air development.

10 County Schools In Music Contest

Students from 10 Lancaster County high schools will take part in a music contest at the C. C. White Building on the Nebraska Wesleyan campus all day Saturday.

A trophy will be presented to the high school whose students receive the most points in the ratings.

All high schools in the county outside Lincoln will take part in the contest sponsored by the Lancaster County Activities Association.

They include Bennet, Central (Sprague-Martell), Firth, Hickman, Malcolm, Raymond, Roca, Panama, Walton and Waverly.

Truce Violators Killed

SEOUL (INS) — South Korean national police reported that two Communist soldiers were killed when they stepped on minefields south of Korea's demilitarized armistice zone. The two were said to have been members of a four-man Red party which crossed the line in violation of the truce pact. South Korean police said they captured one of the two survivors while the other one escaped.

Israel Party Shot Up; One Dead, 23 Hurt

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector. — Raiders shot up an Israeli wedding party in the village of Patish Friday, killing a girl and wounding 23 other guests. Israel blamed Egypt, calling the attack "another link in a continued chain of aggression."

Patish is about 12 miles inside Israeli territory from the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip, where 38 Egyptians and 8 Israelis were killed in clashes Feb. 23. The U. N. Mixed Armistice Commission held Israel's army responsible for that incident.

Accounts of an Israeli military spokesman and eyewitnesses gave this picture of the raid on Patish: The newlyweds—Samuel Kadimi and his bride Simchah—had departed early, leaving about 30 persons dancing in the community hall by the light of a kerosene lamp.

Broke In

At midnight two men raced up in the dark, apparently from behind a chicken house a short distance from the hall, and loosed hand grenades. Then they broke in, firing automatic weapons.

A feminine agricultural instructor, Varda Friedmann, 22, fell dead. Two girls, including the village teacher, were wounded seriously. Twenty-one other persons were less critically hurt. A nurse gave them first aid.

Israeli troops sped to the scene. The detachment failed to arrive in time to engage the raiders, but trackers ascertained there were four men in all in the band—two having been left in covering positions. The troops trailed them back to the Gaza Stripborder.

Ed Matthiesen, Civic Leader At Blair, Is Dead

BLAIR, Neb. (INS) — Civic leader Ed Matthiesen, 76, of Blair, died in an Omaha hospital Friday following a long illness. He sold his clothing store and the Citizens State Bank here at the close of World War II and had been in semi-retirement.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at the St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Matthiesen was active in Republican political circles and in Masonic circles. He had been a member of the board of the Nebraska Children's Home and the executive board of the State Volunteer Firemen's organization in addition to serving in several Blair civic posts.

Mrs. Adah Kimmel Funeral Saturday

Graveside services for Mrs. Adah E. Kimmel of Coral Gables, Fla., who died there Tuesday, will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Wyuka, the Rev. David Gracey officiating.

Mrs. Kimmel was a resident of Lincoln until about five years ago. Her husband died in Lincoln in 1937.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Wanda J. Cassidy of Coral Gables and a son, Albert J. of Washington, D.C.

McCarthy Asks Stevens To Step Down

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Senate Investigations Subcommittee ended public hearings on ex-Maj. Irving M. Peress Friday with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy charging they showed "abysmal incompetence or worse" on the part of the Army and "certainly call for a shakeup."

McCarthy, reopening his fight with Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens, also suggested that Stevens should quit or be ousted as Army chief.

The Wisconsin Republican declared: "Stevens demonstrated complete incompetence in that he will do nothing until the committee calls him in. I think there are other jobs into which he would fit better—not necessarily in the government."

Asked if he still thought as he previously had suggested, that there is a "Communist master" in the Pentagon, McCarthy replied: "I don't know—they are still covering up."

At McCarthy's demand, the subcommittee agreed to quiz two additional witnesses behind closed doors after voting to end public hearings in the Peress case.

The two are C. George Anastos and Miss Mary Morill, both former staff members whose testimony was demanded by McCarthy.

Buzz Saw Hurts Farmer's Hand

A buzz saw accident resulted in the partial loss of a finger and damage to others by Albert Schweitzer, 71, farmer living southwest of Raymond.

Schweitzer and a neighbor, Orville Housel, were cutting logs when the accident occurred. Housel said Schweitzer lost his balance and tipped into the saw, cutting his left hand.

The injured man was treated and held at St. Elizabeth Hospital where he is reported in fair condition. He was brought to Lincoln by Housel and escorted to the hospital by police.

Veronica Wed

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Veronica Lake, who has been living in New York for about three years, has been secretly married to Joseph McCarthy — not the senator, but a song writer — for over a year. I doubt if anyone here in Hollywood hears from Veronica, who zoomed to fame with the peekaboo hairdo. Once in a great while her former husband, Director Andrew de Toth, receives some communication or other about the children. He was given complete custody of them at the time of the divorce and they live with him.

Responses were given by Miss Sally Carter of Grand Island (third from left), representing the pledge class, whose topic was "DG Dream Girl"; Miss Mickey Walt of Lincoln (at left), whose response for the active chapter was "DG Debutante," and Mrs. James MacLean of Lincoln (at right), of the alumnae chapter, whose topic was "The Romper Song."

Winners of the scholarship awards were Miss Harriet Saville, Lincoln freshman; Miss Ruth Lucke, Omaha, sophomore; Miss Mary Domingo, Weeping Water, junior; Miss Judy Anderson of Omaha, sophomore, received the award for showing the most improvement, and the honors for the most outstanding pledge went to Miss Sarah Hubka of Beatrice. Miss Carol Unterseher of Lincoln received the award as the outstanding junior.

WELL—here we are with more news of more people doing more things—There are parties for guests, for instance — birthday celebrations, homecomers — travelers—and we'd like to introduce "Koppy" Folsom—

Koppy is a brand new baby—colt that is vastly admired by Mr. and Mrs. Arnott Folsom—and that is quite natural since the colt's mother and the colt make their home on the Folsom farm—

But the story behind the name has to do with Katherine Kopp of Chicago, the young daughter of Leo Kopp, conductor of the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra—Miss Katherine loves horses, and especially does she love colts—So, when Katherine learned that there was to be a baby colt on the Folsom farm she was quite excited and was promised, by the Folsoms, that the colt would be named for her. But somehow the colt and Kathy weren't quite compatible—The Folsoms compromised by naming him "Koppy."

OUR guest, who seems to be flitting from one party to another, is Mrs. Herbert Gish of Minneapolis who is spending several days in Lincoln visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Anderson, and her daughter, Miss Phyllis Gish, a freshman at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Added to the numerous courtesies for Mrs. Gish is the supper for which Mrs. R. H. Mohrman will be hostess when she entertains at her home next Tuesday evening.

THE birthday celebration we mentioned involves Mrs. L. H. de Brown for whom, on Wednesday, Mrs. W. A. Daily will entertain at luncheon at the University Club—Following the luncheon, which honors Mrs. de Brown's birthday anniversary, the group will remain at the club for an afternoon of bridge.

SPEAKING of parties—Mrs. W.

H. Browne, Jr., and Mrs. William Kimball were coffee hostesses on Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. Browne, when they entertained in courtesy to Mrs. Donald Edmund.

AND we just learned that Mrs. Robert Bagby, the former Kitty Clothier, was hostess to 12 guests last Sunday afternoon when she entertained in pre-nuptial courtesy to Gamma Phi Beta sister, Miss Shirley Hartman, whose engagement and approaching marriage to Robert Krase of Jefferson City, Mo., was announced last Wednesday.

The soon-to-be bride, who has chosen May 21 as a wedding date, was presented with a personal shower.

HEAR that Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Simpson have plans for the Easter week-end—On Friday, April 8, they will go to Wichita, Kan., where they will be the house guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Simpson who, by the way, have just purchased a new home.

MENTION of Easter reminds us that Miss Mary Rodgers, who is attending Mt. St. Gertrude's Academy at Boulder, Colo., will be arriving home next Saturday to spend the Easter holiday with her mother, Mrs. Bert Rodgers.

AND arriving on Friday, April 1, will be Miss Patricia Patterson, who comes from Lindenwood College, St. Charles, Mo., to spend the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin E. Patterson.

SOMEONE told us that Mrs. Herbert Key Jr. of Marshall, Tex., arrived in Lincoln on Friday to spend several days with her aunts, Mrs. Erle H. Reid, who is here from Torrington, Wyo., and Miss Marian Watkins, Mrs. Key came to attend the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. Edson W. Burget.

A Guest Threesome

Our guest threesome really is three-fourths of a guest foursome, for arriving from Chevy Chase, Md., with our pictured trio—Mrs. Henry Lowden, her son, Henry Jr., and daughter, Joan—was Dr. Lowden.

The visitors arrived last Sunday to spend the week as the house guests of Mrs. Lowden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Beachley, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Beachley.

During their stay in Lincoln Dr. and Mrs. Lowden (the former Jean Beachley) and their children have been the incentives for numerous informal family affairs.

The travelers decided to get a head start on the storm and hurried off on Friday to race the snow back to Maryland.

YW District Directors Meet

The annual spring meeting of the Nebraska YWCA District board of directors opened in Lincoln on Friday for a two-day session, with finance apparently the top feature on the agenda.

The officers and the members of the state board of directors arrived Friday afternoon, and reports were presented by various committee chairmen.

Friday evening was devoted to meetings of the finance, advisory, special gifts and adult organization committees, and the showing of a film, "The Widening Circle," which is the YWCA's centennial feature.

The Saturday morning session began with reports from the personnel committee chairman, and the chairmen of the finance and special gifts committees. The remainder of the meeting was spent discussing organization matters, the revamping of the board's policies, and publicity. On hand for the meeting were officers and directors of the state board, and Miss Doris White of Chicago, a member of the national YWCA staff.

Wedding In Colorado Springs

MRS. LEWIS BERLOWITZ

The marriage of Miss Louise Mendelsohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mendelsohn of Colorado Springs, Colo., to Lewis Berlowitz of Lincoln, son of Mrs. Rose Berlowitz of New York City, formerly of Lincoln, took place on Sunday evening, March 20, at the B'Nai Israel Synagogue in Colorado Springs. The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Rabbi Harold I. Stern of Lincoln, and Rabbi Joshua Stanford of Portland, Ore., who were assisted by Rabbi Samuel Schnitzer and Cantor Lifton, and the service took place under a canopy of white pompons and pink carnations, with pedestal arrangements of the blossoms completing the decor. Prof. Henri Margolinski, pianist, played the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Robert Kushner, the vocal soloist.

Miss Elaine Diana Diamond, her cousin's maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Maxine Berlowitz, Miss Barbara Berlowitz of New York City, sisters of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Gerald Kushner of Lincoln, were frocked alike in coral crystal-ette and tulle. Their hair bandeaux were fashioned of imported French braid embroidered with seed pearls, and their corsages were of white carnations and pink rosebuds. Sharon Diamond, the flower girl, wore a waltz-length frock of white taffeta.

Chantilly lace and tulle over white satin fashioned the bridal gown. The snug bodice, in which a deep portrait neckline slipped into long sleeves, was embroidered with sequins and seed pearls, and beneath the slender waist the lace drifted over a bouffant, waltz-length skirt of tulle. A calot of illusion, embroidered with sequins and seed pearls, held to the head her tulle veil, and she carried a Bible ornamented with a corsage of white orchids, rosebuds and lilies-of-the-valley.

Morton Berlowitz of Wichita, Kan., served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Gerald Kushner, Max Neiden, Lincoln; Ben Bronstein, Donald Lenef, and Howard Mendelsohn of Sacramento, Calif.

Following the ceremony there was dinner and dancing in the Crystal Room of the Alamo Hotel, Colorado Springs, after which Mr. Berlowitz and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to California and Las Vegas, Nev. For traveling Mrs. Berlowitz wore a gray-blue wool suit, with navy and white accessories. Upon their return from the west coast Mr. Berlowitz and his bride will reside at 865 No. 27th St.

Mrs. Berlowitz attended the University of Colorado at Boulder.

Marriage Announced

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mrs. Florence Weeden of Lincoln, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Johnson, to C. I. White of Oakland, Ia.

The ceremony was solemnized on Saturday, March 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kulper in Des Moines, Ia., with the Rev. Mr. Wheatley reading the lines.

The couple will reside in Oakland, Ia. where Mr. White is serving as mayor.

ANDREE RUELLAN

As in many other pictures in the NAA show this season, there is in Andree Ruellan's "Masked Figure," an oil on canvas, a distinct departure from the style which formerly identified her work for the local public. There is much more active imagination in this piece. It is distinctive in its choice of a dark palette of blues and greens, and deals with figures and objects out of a purely personal world. This figure, of what sex, what age, of what society we can not tell, seems to be participating in some half-ritualistic masquerade. It is a figure of theatrical mystery and one which will not yield its meaning very soon.

Old Man Winter Only Winner; NU All-Sports Day Postponed

Wintry weather Friday forced a one week postponement of the All Sports Day at the University of Nebraska, originally scheduled for Saturday.

The entire series of exhibitions with the exception of the baseball game will be carried over to April 2, the Athletic Department announced. The Husker baseballers will be playing at Tulsa on that day.

The All Sports Day program features an intra-squad football game, a student-alumni basketball game, and track, tennis and swimming competition.

Brooklyn Defeated 5-1; Cerv, Kucks Lead Yanks

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Johnny Kucks, unheralded New York Yankee rookie, set down the Brooklyn Dodgers in a brilliant seven-inning performance Friday as the Yanks won, 5-1. The tall right-hander from Jersey City held the Dodgers to three hits, two of them infield rollers.

Carl Erskine, Dodger ace, was the loser. He worked six frames and was slugged for 11 hits and all the Yankee runs, including Bob Cerv's homer in the fourth.

A crowd of 7,212, largest of the spring here, saw the Bombers take their eighth victory in their last 10 games. They've beaten Brooklyn in three of four meetings.

Ewell Blackwell pitched the final two innings for the Yanks and got by, largely on slow stuff. Andy Carey led New York's 13-hit barrage with three singles.

Orioles Divide With Kansas City

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — The Baltimore Orioles scored a 10-3 victory over Kansas City in the 7-inning opening game of Friday's double-header but the Athletics came back to win the 9-inning exhibition nightcap 7-4.

Gus Triandos and Hal Smith led the Orioles to their opening victory. Smith walloped a home run and a single and batted in four runs while Triandos clubbed a homer, a double and a single and posted three RBIs.

The Orioles ran up a total of nine hits against Leroy Wheat and Bill Oster. The A's collected only four blows against Don Ferrarese and Bob Kuzava.

Bob Trice started for the Athletics in the nightcap and hurled six scoreless innings, blanking the Orioles on three scattered hits. Bill Renna staked him to a 4-run lead in the first inning by blasting the heavily-favored 66ers from Bartlesville, Okla., will meet the Colorado collegians, playing under the name Lockett-Nix of Boulder, tonight for the championship. The Peoria, Ill., catpillars, titleholders for the last three years, were ousted earlier this week.

Behind as much as seven points in the last half, the Colorado team took the lead for the first time in the period, 48-47, with 9:17 left. It held the advantage until Marv Decker hit a follow shot to give the Marines the lead, 51-49, at 4:45 left.

Bob Yardley's drive-in tied it for Colorado with 2:30 remaining and neither team scored in the rest of regulation play.

Charley Mock's layup gave Colorado the first basket in overtime and Jim Bingham tied it with a jump shot for the Marines, but Mock came back with another drive-in to make it 55-53 and the Coloradans never trailed.

In the semifinal opener, Jim Walsh's one-hand push shot from 28 feet out spilled the San Francisco Olympic Club in the last second of play, and sent Phillips into the finals.

Colorado took a 2-0 lead on two free throws by Burdette Halderson, Big Seven Conference scoring champion the past two seasons, but the collegians were never ahead in the first half again until two more free throws by Halderson gave the club a 32-30 halftime edge.

TAMPA, Fla. — The Cincinnati Reds and the Washington Senators got in 4½ innings of baseball Friday before rain halted the exhibition with the Senators on top, 4-3.

The American Leaguers tallied all their runs in the second inning on two hits off Jim Pearce, a pair of passes and Ray Jablonski's miff of a routine pop fly with two outs.

BOB WAGNER

Tom Novak Award To Wagner

The Tom Novak Award, which goes annually to the most valuable player on the Nebraska football team, will be awarded to Bob Wagner, guard, by Governor Victor Anderson between halves of the intra-squad game on All Sports Day April 2, at the University of Nebraska.

Newspapermen following the Nebraska team made the selection each year. J. Gordon Roberts of Omaha established the trophy in 1950 when Charles Toogood won it.

Others who have received the award are Frank Simon, 1951; Ed Husmann, 1952; and Ted Connor, 1953.

Howard Litch of Rotary is the apparent individual leader, but his totals were incomplete Friday night.

Exchange Club (with 60 per cent of the workers reported) is second with 6,303 tickets sold. Sertoma (50 per cent of workers) is third with 1,803 tickets, and the Optimists (40 per cent of workers) are fourth with 1,650 tickets.

Trailing in the five-team downtown contest are the Lions with a mere 187 tickets sold, with about 40 per cent of the sellers accounted for.

The suburban club returns are far from complete, but it became apparent Friday night that some good selling jobs were being performed in those communities. The Bethany Lions have sold 825 tickets and the Havelock Lions and Business Men's Association 759, with about 90 per cent of the Bethany workers and 50 per cent of the Havelock crew checked in.

An unexpected boost was given the drive with the sudden increase in box sales, resulting from a tremendous pitch on the parts of the Chiefs' board of directors.

Harold Hoppe has a slight lead in the box sales department, but he's getting a fierce battle from A. L. (Pat) Minier and A. Q. Schimmel.

Wagner reported Friday night that over 5,000 box seat tickets had been sold. About 400 option and 80 Plan 1 seats have been sold to date, and Wagner said "it appears that we'll sell out the option seats." There are only 75 of these seats available.

Four Times '54
Especially pleasing is the fact that the number of box seats sold this year is four times the number sold in 1954.

While it is probable the drive will fall some short of the 55,000 goal, it seems likely that nearly 40,000 tickets will be sold by the conclusion of the pre-season sales.

And if 40,000 tickets are sold, it will mean that the Chiefs will have sold half the number of tickets sold during the entire 1954 campaign. As of Friday night, the figure was about one-third of last year's season total, with more to come.

Referee Ruby Goldstein gave it to Baker 9-0 with one even, while Judges Artie Aidala and Jack Gordon had it 8-1-1. The Associated Press gave it to Baker 9-1.

Mederos got in most of his points with wild rights which sometimes found their mark on the slow-moving Baker, but never hurt him.

Baker kept moving in, in-stalking the 22-year-old Cuban who created somewhat of a sensation by knocking out Roland LaStarza in five rounds at Miami three weeks ago. But Julie wasn't in the same league with Baker.

The only thing that kept him off the canvas was his cagey refusal to step in and slug it out.

Mederos won the first round when he came out of his corner with fire in his eyes and promptly tagged Baker with a sharp left. Baker nodded his head as if to say: "Enough of this, young man," and danced away. He was not trying to get in a solid punch, merely feeling out Mederos.

Late Check-Ins To Hike Totals; Weather Hurts

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Advance sale of Lincoln Chiefs' tickets hit 25,931 Friday night as the first day of check-ins drew to a close at the Cornhusker Hotel.

This is about 50 per cent of the goal, but General Manager Dick Wagner estimated that only about 60 per cent of the workers selling the bargain tickets had checked-in.

Unquestionably, the sudden cold weather hampered the drive and many salesmen who checked in Friday signed for more books and went back out looking for buyers.

Many more workers didn't report Friday after informing Wagner that they would check in Saturday. One service club will not check in until Monday.

Until Monday
It was announced Friday that mail and phone orders — and orders from persons who have not yet been contacted — will be accepted until midnight Monday, March 28.

"Considering the weather is anything but baseball weather, and the fact that this ticket drive is a new endeavor, I think the sale has been good," Wagner said Friday night.

"I think it's possible for us to hit 40,000 advance sales by the time everything is wound up," he said.

Wagner asked that as many salesmen as can check in Saturday at the Chamber of Commerce.

Rotary took the lead in the downtown service club race Friday by selling 9,067 tickets to date. About 80 per cent of the Rotarian salesmen have checked in.

Kroeger Named Sportsmanship Winner

Gerald Lee Kroeger, David City senior and a two-year member of the Nebraska Wesleyan University basketball team, was newly established "Sportsmanship award" at the annual all-sports banquet Friday night.

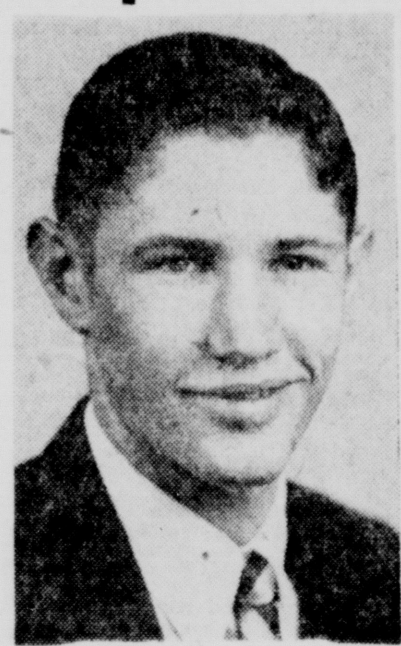

Kroeger was presented with a loving cup by Bob Jewett, Beatrice senior and president of Blue Key, men's honorary fraternity which established the award this year.

Jewett said Kroeger was chosen from many eligible candidates because of his "conduct on the playing floor, his attitude in regular attendance or practice sessions, and his attitude toward his teammates, opponents, officials and his coaches."

Representative

"It was the opinion of Blue Key members that amongst the many fine sportsmen on Wesleyan athletic teams the past season, Jerry Kroeger best represented the high ideals of good sportsmanship," he said.

Kroeger was a member of a David City state championship team in 1951 and competed during his junior and senior years as a Wesleyan regular.

Coach Irvin L. Peterson regarded the diminutive Kroeger as the most underrated player on his two championship Plainsman squads of the past two seasons, insisting that his teams would have been considerably weakened without Kroeger's scoring, play making and ball hawking.

Kroeger is married to the former Marilyn Kyes of near Central City; is affiliated with Theta Chi fraternity; is a baseball letterman and active in "W" club, Wesleyan varsity lettermen's organization.

Colorado, Phillips In AAU Final

DENVER — Seniors from the University of Colorado varsity chopped down the Quantico, Va., Marine champions in overtime, 63-56, and the Phillips 66ers rolled to victory on a last-second field goal, 53-51, over San Francisco Olympic Club in the semifinals Friday night of the National Amateur Athletic Union Basketball tournament.

Grid Stars Poe, Miller Cited At Plainsman Fete

Two Nebraska Wesleyan University alumni were recognized as "Honor Athletes" at an annual all sports banquet Friday night.

Wesley Poe, now a University of Nebraska staff member who was a little all-America football tackle in 1946, was presented with a "W" club medalion as was George Miller, football standout of the early 30's who is now coaching at Central City high school.

Former Wesleyan Athletic Director John Waldorf of Marshall, Mo., was the main speaker and he had something to say to five segments of the population concerned, directly or indirectly, with athletic programs;

Participants:

To the participants: "The field of competitive athletics draws no line. You are participating in the greatest common denominator in America today. You have a marvelous opportunity through athletics to compete under the ideals of decency and fair play so that you can create a tolerance and understanding among the many peoples that go to make up this great nation."

To the administration: "The administration of the school is responsible to see that a sound program of athletics is setup and set-up to go hand in hand with other academic planning."

To the coach: "The coach has a terrific responsibility in the life-long attitude that he imparts to the boys who play for him."

To overly vocal alumni: "It is always a source of continual amazement to me, how a man who contributes little or nothing while he is in school, suddenly becomes a self-appointed oracle of a school's program — either athletically or otherwise."

Santee Only Second Over World Mark

By DICK SMITH
CLEVELAND (AP) — Wes Santee, tall and talkative Kansan, thrilled a Knighis of Columbus track meet crowd here Friday night by setting a new meet record of 4 minutes, 4.6 seconds — just a second more than the world indoor mark.

Santee's fine performance was a second slower than that of Gunnar Nielsen of Denmark in New York last Feb. 5 when Nielsen's time of 4 minutes, 3.6 seconds clipped two-tenths of a second off a world mark Santee had set at Boston the week before.

The quarter-mile times of the race were 62.8 seconds, 2 minutes, 4.5 seconds, and 3 minutes, 6 seconds. Art Dalzell, a fellow Kansan of Santee and his favorite pacemaker, led most of the first half, with Santee only about two strides behind and R. E. McMillen of Los Angeles A. C. close in.

Santee took the lead briefly from Dalzell in the first quarter, and actually appeared to be pushing his pacemaker. Then, early in the third quarter, Santee took over, with McMillen second and the rest of the field a full 15 yards back.

Going into the closing lap Santee was a half-lap ahead of the field and running against the clock, with the crowd cheering an announcer's urgings that he turn it on and break the meet record.

Joseph LaPierre, former Villanova miler who is now running for the U.S. Army, headed the contingent far back of Santee, and Lowell Zeller of Indiana finished third, ahead of McMillen.

The former meet record for the mile in the 15-year-old K. of C. games here was 4 minutes, 8.5 seconds set by Gilbert Dodds of Ashland, Ohio, running for the Boston A. A. in 1947.

Dillard Wins
Harrison Dillard, who's 31 and has talked of retiring for three seasons, won the 45-yard high hurdles for the 10th consecutive year in the meet's second greatest crowd-pleaser.

"Bones" Dillard, Olympic champion, former Baldwin-Wallace College star, and now a publicity man for the Cleveland baseball club, showed no sign of letting the years catch up with him as he skinned the barriers in 5.7 seconds, only three-tenths of a second under a meet mark that has stood up for 13 years.

Players Meet To Face Two Big Issues

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Major league baseball player representatives will meet in Cincinnati April 5 to decide on two big issues.

They are:
1. Whether to recommend abolition of the March 1 deadline on starting spring training.
2. Whether J. Norman Lewis should be named permanent attorney for the players' group, hired on a retainer fee or dropped altogether.

Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, player representative for the National League, said today these were the main items to be discussed at the Cincinnati meeting.

The rule forbidding players or clubs to begin spring training before March 1 was put into the book at the insistence of the players themselves and over the objections of Commissioner Ford Frick.

Frick, who acknowledged that he thought the rule a bad one, this spring fined the Milwaukee Braves and Kansas City Athletics for violating it.

Fine Job
Roberts said all the players felt Lewis, the attorney who helped spearhead the present baseball pension plan, had done a fine job. Yet there is some player sentiment for dispensing with his services now that the pension plan has been worked out.

Two Meet Marks Established; Miami Lead Ohio State Gains Swim Lead To Mayfield

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Two meet marks were established, three individual champions retained titles and defending titlist Ohio State surged far ahead in points Friday night as the NCAA swimming meet reached the halfway mark.

Ohio State, bagging a whopping 17 points in the one-meter diving, goes into tonight's closing seven-event program at Miami University pool with 43 points.

Next with 28 was Michigan, followed by Yale with 27 and Harvard with 10.

Probably the evening's best performance was the 2:04.2 triumph by defending champion Jack Wardrop of Michigan in the 220-yard free style. That broke Wardrop's own 1954 meet mark of 2:05.0.

The other new meet record was an automatic as North Carolina State's Bob Mattson swam the new 200 orthodox breaststroke in 2:26. Last year's winner, Dave Hawkins of Harvard, won in 2:15.2, swimming the butterfly stroke.

Hawkins arrived too late for today's orthodox breast stroke trials, but will swim in the 200 breast-stroke today.

Besides Wardrop in the 220 free-style, other successful defending champions were Ohio State's Yoshi Oyakawa, who won the 200 backstroke in 2:07.7, and Ohio State's one-meter diving star, Fletcher Gilders.

Oyakawa became the first man in the meet's history to win the same event four straight years.

Michigan's 400-yard freestyle relay team was dethroned by Yale's quartet of Dan Cornwell, Malcolm Aldrich, Red Aubrey and Hendrik Gideonse in 3:24.9.

Oyakawa, 5-6, 150-pound senior from Honolulu, glided home first by five yards in 2:07.7, more than a full second over his 1954 triumph at Syracuse. Iowa's Lincoln Hump was second.

The 50-yard freestyle crown went to Yale's Kerry Donovan in a paradox of stop watches. While it appeared Donovan barely edged Dartmouth's Eastern Intercollegiate champion, John Glover, it turned out that:

Haney: Club Strong With 'At Least 3' Regulars

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Fred Haney, after two years at the helm of the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates, still lives in the future but for the first time, the 58-year-old Californian is optimistic about the present, too.

Now entering his 32nd year of baseball, the aggressive little manager has seen enough of his beardless Buccaneers to predict that his team will be "a great deal stronger" than last year "no matter where they finish. He thinks the year of experience gained by the youngsters, the return of Shortstop Dick Groat from the Service and the addition of several promising rookies has given the club as well as himself a new incentive.

"This is going to be a different year for us," Haney observed as he watched his team engage in infield practice before an exhibition game against the Brooklyn Dodgers. "We've got a few solid ball players for a change. A year ago we had only one man certain of regular employment — Frank Thomas. Now we have at least three, not including the pitchers."

Thomas, the club's top home run hitter, will open in center field, of course. Groat, now 24, has picked up where he left off two years ago. He stepped into the starting role at shortstop on June 19, 1952, only three days after graduating from Duke University, and went on to lead the club in batting with .284 and fielded definitely for a freshman. Jack Sheppard .304, Toby Atwell .289, and returning Serviceman Jimmy Mangano gave the Pirates a formidable catching staff.

Gordon Top Hitter
"You might add Sid Gordon to the list of regulars," added Haney. "Sid was our top hitter last year and I expect him to have another good year whether I use him in the outfield or at third base. He gives you a great job wherever you put him. Sid's a great guy to have on a ball club."

Except for center field Thomas left field Gordon, shortstop Groat, catching and several pitchers, Haney hasn't decided on his starting lineup. A three-way battle is raging at first base among veteran Preston Ward, sophomore Bob Skinner and rookie Dale Long. Gene Freese, a .324 hitter at New Orleans, currently has the edge at second base over holdover Curt Roberts because of his superior stickwork. Haney likes the 20-year old kid and it is likely he will open the season at second.

Infield Problem
"Third base is a problem," said Haney. "George Freese, Gene's older brother, is on the injured list. Lucky for me I got Dick Cole, a fine defensive player who can play second, third or shortstop. Then again, I can always bring in Gordon to play third."

Six candidates are striving for the right field berth. Roberto Clemente, 20-year-old Puerto Rican and Ramon Majias, an unheralded youngster who played in Waco, Tex., last year, appear to be in the forefront. Haney believes Majias is one of the most natural young hitters he has seen in a long time. Others with a chance include Tom Saffell, Earl Smith, Felipe Montemayor and Paul Smith.

TC's Outdoor Opener April 1

The Dale Snook's Teachers College High track team has a jump on most schools with one meet already completed, but the tutors are still doubtful of opening their outdoor schedule on time.

The Tutors beat College View indoors already and are scheduled to open April 1 at Omaha Westside, but Nebraska's weather will have to change in a hurry if that meet is to go off on time.

In their first meet the Tutors showed strength in the distances, with veteran Vernon Sharp leading the way in the 880 and Jake Deiring winning the mile. Quarter-miler Bob Hatzenbuehler missed the first meet due to illness but should help out.

Teachers also showed strength in the jumps with sophomore Marvin Bauer taking the broad jump and Gary Batt winning the high jump. Soph Tom Ceerle topped 10 feet in the pole vault.

The Teachers schedule:
April 1 — at Omaha Westside; 12 — at Nebraska City Invitational; 19 — Cathedral; 30 — at Doane Invitational.
May 6, 7 — District Meet at Doane; 13, 14 — State Meet.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

Back here in the East we did more wire-tapping than a woodpecker on a harp.

Manhattan curiosity has more dimensions than a circus tent in a gale.

The ear-bending took another slant upstate when a Poughkeepsie doll refused to get off the party line for a three-alarm fire.

That kind of upstate interference is punishable by a fine, two weeks in Bermuda or your choice of a 144-piece breakfast set. The charge is willfully refusing to relinquish the party line when informed there was spontaneous combustion in a haystack.

If you can evict a suburbanette from a party-line when she's talking you win the sultan's prize. If you can do it when she's listening you win the sultan.
